IV. What are Cookies?

Cookies are files used for collection of information from visitors of websites for particular purposes. They are text files containing small amount of information, which the website stores in your computer, mobile device or another device, during its browsing. Because of this file, the website keeps information about your steps and preferences (such as sign-in name, language setting, font size and other display settings) for certain time period, so that during the next visit of website or its browsing, you do not have to state them again. Cookies have different functions and they improve the overall comfort of users. Cookies can also be necessary for keeping the condition of the website during your visit.

V. What Cookies do we use?

Various Cookies exist and are used for different purposes. In this part, we describe various functions, for which we use Cookies.

To have a better idea, our website uses mainly the following types of Cookies and on the basis of the following reasons:

- Necessary Cookies. They are needed for the operation and functioning of our website, they enable to sign into secured parts of website and they ensure other basic functions of website. This category of Cookies is unable to be forbidden, since without them the website would not run correctly or would not run at all;

- Analytical and Statistical Cookies. They enable us to recognize and detect the number of visitors and observe how the visitors use our website. They help us to improve the way how the website works, for example they enable you to easily find what you are looking for. These Cookies are activated only with your previous consent;
- Eventually other Cookies can be used, for example for proper functioning of our services, for testing the part of website and its functioning, for remembering the information which you have previously filled in on our website (remembering the confirmation of Cookies, remembering for the purposes of signing into our system, etc.). Please take into account that all these Cookies help us to improve the quality of our services.

The means of analysis and focus

As the Controller, we use Cookies also for the purposes of observing the number of visitors on our website (so-called monitoring of visits). For these purposes, we use also for example the services of Google Analytics.

You can find information on how Google uses data when you use our website, on the website: <http://www.google.com/intl/cs/policies/privacy/partners/>

Own Cookies and Cookies of third parties

On our website, we use mainly our own Cookies. Own Cookies (so-called first-party cookies) are Cookies coming directly from our website.

We do not further use Cookies of third parties on our website.

VI. The setting of browser and Cookies

Each website can send its own Cookies into your browser, if the setting of your web browser enables that. When using our website, you will be asked to give your consent before we put Cookies into your browser.

You can erase, eventually restrict, the use of Cookies in your browser by choosing the relevant setting of your browser. Information about the setting of the storage of Cookies in your browser can be found on the sites of the providers of particular browser:
